Sacraments of Healing

A few years ago, long before I came to OSJ, the phone rang one night about 2:00 AM. I was on duty in the rectory so it was an emergency call. The man on the line said his mother had just died and he needed a priest.

It was a short drive to the house. The man greeted me at the door and ushered me into a room where the family was gathered. He said his mother had died over an hour ago. She lay on the bed, having suffered through an obviously long and debilitating illness. I offered a few prayers, expressed my condolences and tried to say a few reassuring words about our hope in the resurrection. But before leaving, I remarked gently, "I wish you had called earlier, even weeks ago, so we could have done more for your mother." His answer startled me. "We didn't want to alarm her by calling a priest," he said.

When I was first ordained, forty years ago, I met the same sentiment while serving as a hospital chaplain. Dressed as a priest, carrying the sacraments, I would enter a patient's room and be greeted with, "I'm not that sick, Father!" I always found that remark very sad, as if I were the harbinger of death instead of a minister of healing.

The fault for this distorted sense of the Church's ministry to the sick does not lie entirely with uninformed or superstitious Catholics. Church teaching prior to Vatican II must bear some of the blame. There was such an emphasis on the "Last Rites" and the seemingly magical value of the presence of a priest at the moment of death that it is understandable that people made the connection between the approach of a priest and the last gasp of life. But that changed fifty years ago—or should have.

How does the Church today describe the proper ministry to the sick?

Let's talk first about the sacrament of the sick. This used to be called "Extreme Unction," literally the "last anointing." As the name suggests, this sacrament was to be reserved for people at the point of death, almost as if the patient's recovery was a sign that the sacrament had been misapplied. Hence the term—Last Rites—which is no longer in use and should be permanently relegated to a bygone era. Today this ritual anointing is better referred to as the Sacrament of the Sick and it is the Church's primary prayer for healing. The Church encourages everyone who is suffering a physical or emotional infirmity to approach this sacrament. Even elderly people who are in relatively good health are invited to receive the sacrament. (I joke

Bringing Communion to the Homebound

Those who are confined to home—even for a short time—can remain connected to our shared worship by receiving Communion at home. If you, a family member, friend or neighbor (with their approval of course), would like to receive Communion at home, contact the parish offices at 215-923-1733 to arrange for a parish Eucharistic Minister to visit.

Old St. Joseph's Prayer List

It's time again to update the bulletin's prayer list. If you would like a name to remain on the current list, please email office@oldstjoseph.org by Monday, April 8. As always, you may continue to add names at any time by email, by calling 215-923-1733 or by leaving a message in the parish offices. Thank you!

that everyone who is Medicare-eligible can be anointed.)

Of course, it is also highly appropriate for the Sacrament of the Sick to be administered to the dying. In fact, the Church has provided a variety of prayers for different circumstances, depending on the condition of the person receiving the sacrament. The basic ritual for the celebration of the Sacrament of the Sick is quite straightforward. As in every sacramental celebration, we begin with a reading from Scripture, if circumstances allow. Then the Holy Spirit is invoked by the minister extending his hands over the ill person and praying in silence. Then the person's hands and forehead are anointed with the oil of the sick, which is blessed by the bishop at the Chrism Mass on Holy Thursday each year. The words that accompany the anointing are especially meaningful:

*Through this holy anointing,
may the Lord in his love and mercy
help you with the grace of the Holy Spirit.
May the Lord who frees you from sin,
save you and raise you up.*

Here at Old St. Joseph's, in addition to special requests, we celebrate the Sacrament of the Sick on the first Saturday of the month at the 12:05 PM Mass.

In current Church teaching, the special sacrament for the dying is Holy Communion. When the Eucharist is ministered to a dying person, it is called Viaticum. This Latin word originally referred to the supplies or necessities one would bring on a journey. In the eyes of faith, a dying person is setting out on a journey, and through the Eucharist Christ is accompanying the dying person into the Kingdom of God. It is unfortunate when a priest or Eucharistic minister is not called to administer Viaticum while the patient is still capable of receiving.

In Catholic teaching, in the face of physical or mental illness, we can always pray for an actual cure—even a miraculous one—and a return to health. But prayer and the sacraments perhaps only rarely produce such a miraculous physical cure and in Catholic practice they are no substitute for expert medical care. But beyond these physical realities, the tradition of the Church is wise to look on sickness as a time of temptation and spiritual danger. For not only does physical and mental illness cause bodily pain and emotional distress, it also can attack our sense of hope and confidence and our desire for life itself. It can threaten our bonds of love with those around us and lead us to resentment, leading us to wallow in self-pity and depression. Prayer and the sacraments can bring spiritual healing and God's grace to a soul that is brought low and calling out to God for courage and support. Ultimately, sickness brings us to the mystery of the cross and the suffering to which Christ himself was subjected.

A Jesuit friend of mine, whom I knew as a very prayerful man, was dying of liver cancer. The last time I spoke to him, before he died, he said to me, "Make sure you get all your praying done before you get sick." He meant by that, I assume, that he was so sick he found it impossible to pray. Surprising, coming from such a sincere and prayerful person. I've thought about that comment for many years. Now I wish I had said to him, "It's alright if you cannot pray, because we are all praying for you." But even better, I should have said, "It's alright if you cannot pray, because the Spirit prays when we cannot." That's what happens when the sacraments are brought to us: the Spirit prays within us, even if we cannot.

April OSJ YAC Happy Hour

All young adults are invited to join OSJ's Young Adult Community on Friday, April 12. We'll be checking out the Post (129 S 30th St), a fun new University City beer hall from the team behind Walnut Street Cafe. Located just west of the Schuylkill River, the bar has $5 happy hour drink specials, 16 beers on tap, pub fare from a former Le Bec Fin chef, and board and arcade games! Contact Christopher Ross (610-952-7317, g.chris.ross@gmail.com) with any questions or to find us at the bar. We'll post our location inside on the happy hour's Facebook page and will be there starting at 5:30 PM. Hope to see you there!

Easter Vigil Hospitality

Volunteers are needed to help serve refreshments after the Easter Vigil on Saturday, April 20. Please contact Joe Casey at parishlife@oldstjoseph.org or 215-843-3573 to volunteer.

Easter Eggs

The annual OSJ Easter Egg Hunt will take place on Sunday, April 21 after the 9:30 AM Mass (bring a basket!) in the North Park adjacent to the Church. Donations of plastic eggs filled with treats can be dropped off at the parish offices until Saturday, April 20, and volunteers are needed to set out the eggs. Please contact Joe Casey at parishlife@oldstjoseph.org or 215-843-3573 to help out.

Rice Bowl Collection

Old St. Joseph's will collect Rice Bowl offerings on the weekend of April 27-28. If you have been setting aside cash, you can convert it to a check or online contribution so that it is recorded with your annual giving for tax purposes. Also, it's not too late to download the CRS app; remember to designate OSJ as your parish so that the local share of the collection goes to the archdiocesan Nutritional Development Services!

2019 Pacem in Terris Lecture

James Martin SJ will give LaSalle University's 2019 Pacem in Terris lecture on Building a Bridge: Showing Respect and Welcome to LGBT People in the Catholic Church. Fr. Martin will speak on April 16, 7:00-8:30 PM in LaSalle's Founder's Hall. Register online at lasalle.edu/johnxxiii.

Service Year Opportunity

Maggie's Place, a group of four houses of hospitality providing support to pregnant and parenting women, is seeking AmeriCorps or MissionCorps volunteers. Corps Members are asked to 'do small things with great love' as they support mothers in need working toward independence. Maggie's Place homes are located in the Phoenix, AZ and Cleveland, OH metro areas. More information is available at missioncorps@maggiesplace.org and maggiesplace.org.

Cookout Dinner Tonight!

Join us tonight, Sunday April 7 after the 6:30 PM Mass, for a meal prepared from Catholic Relief Services' Rice Bowl recipes. There will also be another opportunity to write letters and emails advocating for full funding of international humanitarian aid in the Fiscal Year 2020. CRS uses these funds for emergency relief and food security programs. Details are online at catholicsconfrontglobalpverty.org. Click on "Take Action" in the Eliminate Hunger box. You can also text NOURISH CHANGE to 306-44 and receive a text back from CRS with a link enabling you to email your representatives in Congress.

April Pre-Baptism Class

The April Pre-Baptism class will be held on Thursday, April 11 at 7:00 PM in the Drexel Parlor. For additional information, contact Fr. Dougherty at 215-923-1733.

Altars of Repose Walking Pilgrimage

All are welcome to join in an Altars of Repose Walking Pilgrimage on Thursday, April 18. After the Mass of the Lord's Supper on Holy Thursday, the altar will be stripped, crosses and statues will be covered, and the Most Blessed Sacrament will be moved to a side altar, the Altar of Repose. Pilgrims will then leave OSJ and visit a total of seven Altars of Repose to pray before the Blessed Sacrament. The tradition recalls the disciples keeping Jesus company in the Garden on his last night. Please wear walking shoes and expect to cover 2.75 miles in approximately 2 hours, including stops to pray. Anyone interested can meet in the courtyard after Holy Thursday Mass. Have questions? Reach out to Megan at mprilutski@gmail.com.

Reconciliation Service This Week

Please join us on Tuesday, April 9 at 7:30 PM for our parish celebration of the Sacrament of Reconciliation. The liturgy will include Scripture reading, prayer and a shared examination of conscience. There will be time for quiet prayer, and opportunity for sacramental absolution will be available for those who wish to approach a priest for individual confession. Come as you are; all are welcome!
